

DESIGN SCREEN 3:

US #94 TASK #117

Author: Prerana

This Figma designed screen presents the Contacts settings panel, where users can manage how the auto-response agent interacts with specific contacts. Each contact entry displays the name, relationship label, and a toggle switch that allows users to enable or disable automatic replies for that person. A search bar at the top helps quickly find contacts, while expandable options allow for additional preferences such as tone or response settings. The design follows a familiar mobile settings layout to make configuring auto-response behavior simple and intuitive.
